Automated technical and compliance assessment of documentation from Eduworks-UK Ltd

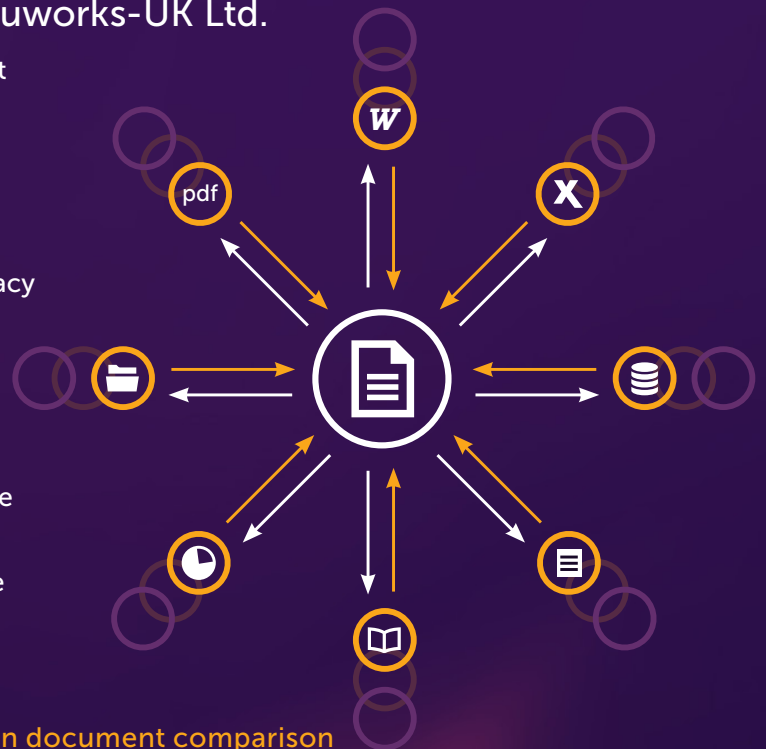

When regulations change, or you need to align with technical guidelines, your documentation must be accurate and often updated quickly to ensure your company is compliant. Even the initial task of analysing and comparing all of your material against a regulatory or technical document takes time and effort and will put a strain on scarce expert resource.

Now there is an automated way to analyse your existing documentation and assess whether your documents are compliant.

EduCompare

Automated technical and compliance assessment of documentation from Eduworks-UK Ltd.

- EduCompare is a proven intelligent technology platform which allows comparison and analysis of large volumes of unstructured data
- EduCompare will assess the accuracy of your existing documentation against a standard, compliance regulation document or statute
- EduCompare can help you produce a new target document, against which you can test multiple source documents to check compliance

Eduworks - the leading innovator in document comparison and analysis, providing smart technology since 2001.
